JANUARY/FEBRUARY 1971

They Really Want to Do a Good Job if We'll Let 'em ..... by Marco Gilliam 1

Finding the Good in the Gaps by Robert D. Lilley 11

From Concept into Service 14
Flexibility of Bell System organization and directed research help move an innovation from idea in the laboratory to reality in the telephone network.

Technology Tomorrow: Impact and Implications
by Henry M. Boettinger 20
Technology is concerned primarily with physical processes, but it also will affect the way organizations are managed in the future.

The Need for New Rates 26

Bell Reports 32
A summary of significant developments in communications.

MARCH/APRIL 1971

The Spirit of Service 1

Talking At or Talking With? by John A. Howland 5
Successful communications to and among corporate employees cannot be a duty delegated to an individual or an organization with a fancy title and then forgotten. Employee information is everyone's job, and when it isn't, the consequences can be formidable.

XUM

President's Man by Howard D. Criswell, Jr. 11
It's been six months since Dr. Edward David moved from Bell Laboratories' Murray Hill headquarters to Washington's Executive Office Building as the President's Science Advisor. How is he doing? What has he done?

Necessity and Bell - Mothers of Invention 17

The Third Revolution in Work by Robert N. Ford 24
The "father" of the Work Itself effort in the Bell System comments on the lead story in the last issue of Bell Telephone Magazine and offers some personal thoughts about the promise of his Big Idea.

Hot Lines to Help by Ivan Doig 27

Backing up A Commitment 30

A Different Window (Editorial) 33

MAY/JUNE 1971

The Nonyouth Bag (Editorial) ..... Inside Front Cover

The Art of Arthur Page by Prescott C. Mabon 1

Citizens or Inhabitants? by Gordon L. Hough 8

Growing Their Own In Comptrollers by Bob Wolfenbarger 14
Associated Company comptrollers turn to systematized training techniques in preparing computer people to meet growing service needs.

Serving the Press in the 70's by Marco Gilliam 20
The booming newspaper industry is changing - with increased dependence on telecommunications services.

Psychologists and Technologists - A New and Promising Partnership 29
Through the years, this business has earned a reputation as the best of the best in the physical and managerial sciences. Now, imaginative and practical new applications of behavioral science benefit Bell people, the technology they lead and the service they provide.

The Spirit of the Cobbler (Editorial) ..... Inside Front Cover

Managing and Measuring the New Knowledge Worker by Peter Drucker 1

Society and the Balance Sheet by Robert D. Lilley 6

Those Special People 9

XUM

Side-by-Side by Robert F. Hanson 36
A representative of the 1,800 other telephone companies looks at the industry in an interview.
